Low collection rate nips HGH profit

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A low census for the month of June in addition to a record percentage of charges being written off as bad debts caused Hancock General Hospital to operate in the red for the first time this fiscal year, according to Mike Dossett, comptroller.

Dossett told the trustees at their regular meeting Tuesday how 22 percent of the charges for June had to be written-off as bad debts.

The first nine months of this fiscal year averages a write-off of 12 percent, the comptroller said.

"In June we had $38,000 more bad debts than the previous month, and that is the amount of our losses for June," Dossett added.

A profit for the first nine months totals $250,000 which is $200,000 above budget, Dossett explained.

Phil Langston, administrator said the census for June showed a 31-patient average, but July's count is 34 so far and it should be a better month.

Delinquent accounts are turned over to collection agencies by HGH after efforts fail to get results.

Dossett said, "In the future we plan on doing a better job in collections with the installation of a computer at HGH. This will enable us to keep a very close tab on accounts and we will be able to do a better follow-up on past due ac-

Multi-car wreck on bridge still under investigation

By BRENT MACEY

A car accident on the Bay St. Louis Bridge Saturday which claimed the life of a Bay St. Louis resident is still being investigated by the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol.

The accident occurred at approximately 5:20 p.m. and involved four vehicles.

Amanda B. Carter, 39, of 908 Spanish Acres Drive in Bay St. Louis was killed in the accident apparently after she lost control of her west bound 1974 Ford station wagon and struck an oncoming vehicle in the east bound lane of the bridge.

John Anderson, 35, of 600 Esplanade Avenue in Bay St. Louis, is charged with Driving Under the Influence.

A field reporter who canvassed with the highway patrol listed the above names and Andrew Scheeter Jr. of 586 Holmes Boulevard in Gretna as people involved in the accident.

Scheeter was the driver of a 1979 Chevrolet which is believed to have struck Mrs. Carter after she was thrown from her car.

Several other people were reported to have been passengers in Scheeter's car.

Exact circumstances surrounding the accident are yet to be determined due to the fact that the accident occurred on a bridge.

SATURDAY WRECK—Police vehicles and a wrecking truck maneuver carefully around a tarpaulin covering the body of Amanda Carter, 38, of Spanish Acres Drive, who was killed in a four car collision on the Bay St. Louis Bridge Saturday. Two Mobile Medic Units, a Bay St. Louis Fire Department engine, and personnel from the Mississippi Highway Patrol, Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments and the Hancock County Sheriff's Department responded to the scene. and the direction the vehicles were heading before the accident occurred.

Bay St. Louis Patrolman George Weatherly, the first patrolman to respond to the accident, stated he believed the Carter vehicle and the pickup driven by Anderson were heading east on the Bay St. Louis Bridge.

Weatherly feels the Anderson pickup struck the back of Mrs. Carter's car and forced the vehicle into the path of a pickup truck driven by Huston:

The collision threw both Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Blanchette from their car. The car driven by Scheetler was directly behind Huston's pickup.

"It probably happened so quickly that I don't think he could have avoided hitting Mrs. Carter," Weatherly said.

The collision between the Huston and Carter vehicle ripped the entire motor and front wheels from the Carter car.

The stationwagon came to rest near the middle of the bridge facing south. The engine and wheels were found some 100 feet away.

The pickup driven by Huston came to rest east of Carter's vehicle and facing north.

Huston was pinned behind the seat of the pickup and removed through efforts of Bay St. Louis Fire Department Chief Andrew Lizzana and personnel from Mobile Medic.

One engine from the Bay St. Louis Fire Department responded along with two Mobile Medic Units, Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police along with members of the Hancock County Rock Volunteer Fire Department and the Highway Patrol also responded.

Pass Seafood Festival

By BRENT MACEY

Arts and craft booths, games, food, music and clowns will be featured this Friday through Sunday as the 6th Annual Seafood Festival is hosted at War Memorial Park in Pass Christian.

Thousands are expected to attend the festival sponsored by St. Paul's Catholic Church for the benefit of St. Paul's School.

Festivities will begin each day at 11 a.m. with live entertainment featured at a different time every day.

On Friday "The Shades" will entertain with music from the 50s and 60s from 3 p.m. until 12 p.m. Saturday Kitty and Neil Stallings will provide folk and mellow rock tunes from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. and Sunday Junior Necaise and the Country Addiction will perform from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Food and beverages will be in abundance.

Georgia Leyser, one of a number of organizers for the event, stated tons of seafood will be served including boiled and fried shrimp, seafood platters, po-boys, stuffed crab and more.

In addition, artists from Ocean Springs to Waveland will line the central walk way in the park in display booths featuring an assortment of arts and crafts.

Some 80 artists are expected to display their creations, including stained glass work, jewelry, cypress carvings, crocheted items, metal and wind chimes, airbrush art work, handcrafted seagulls, spinning and weaving, pottery and host of other creations.

The exhibits will be judged on Friday by Genia H. Koss, an art teacher at Tulane University known throughout the country for his mastery of experimental glass sculpture.

Some 20 games, half for children and half for adults will be in full swing for the weekend.

Throughout the festival members of the Catholic Youth Organization will be dressed as clowns, selling balloons and painting children's faces.

Since you've gone and left us alone the family is not the same without you, Whitey.

When you were here we had your tender loving care. We miss you now. Our hearts are empty.

As times goes by we miss you more, your loving smile, your gentle face.

Although your soul is now at rest and free from care and pain.

This world would seem like Heaven if we had you back again.

No one can fill your vacant place, and we hope to meet you in Heaven, we pray.

Space Shuttle—5 to carry reusable rocket booster hardware

Whatever happened to the reusable Solid Rocket Boosters that helped lift the Space Shuttle from its launch pad on the first, second and third Shuttle flights?

According to NASA's Vince Caruso of the Marshall Space Flight Center, in Huntsville, Ala., all six of the boosters are in various stages of refurbishment and are almost ready to be used again.

Because refurbishment processing times differ for the various components of the boosters, some parts will be reused earlier than others.

The first pieces of booster hardware to demonstrate their reusable characteristics will be the parachutes used on the first shuttle mission.

The chutes have been cleaned, checked for any damage and repacked. They are slated for use again on the boosters that will help launch the shuttle on its fifth flight.

"Other booster components from STS-1 will be used on successive Shuttle flights," said Caruso who heads the production management and planning office for the Marshall Center's Solid Rocket Booster Project.

"The forward skirts and frustums of those boosters will go on STS-6, the aft skirts on STS-7 and the motor segments will fly on STS-8," he said.

"Reuse of the boosters from flights two and three will follow the same pattern — the parachutes from STS-2 will fly again on STS-6, and so on."

"Right now we are sending some hardware back to the manufacturers to have the work done, but as we become operational the majority of the work will be done at the Kennedy Space Center, Fla. by United Space Boosters Inc.

under the direction of Marshall's Resident Office there,"

Caruso said.

The solid motor cases, however, will continue to be returned to the manufacturer to be refilled with solid pro-pellant.

"We expect to reuse the parachute systems up to 10 times," said Caruso. "and the rest of the booster systems about 20 times."

EDITORIALAmanda B. Carter

Tragedy shook the community Saturday night when Amanda B. Carter lost her life in an automobile accident on the US-90 bridge.

A teacher at North Bay Elementary, she was dedicated to her job and well liked by students and parents. A person active in church and community activities, she was a great mother to her sons.

Words cannot express our feelings for her family.

To her husband Gibson, and sons Geja and Mark, we want you to know, we like many others of this community, will remember Amanda B. Carter as a good wife and mother.

Hail to the 1982 Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth State All-Star Champs.

The 13-year-old group from Bay St. Louis won the state championship Tuesday night shutting out D'Iberville 10-0.

The local group with Ronnie Artigues as manager and Rickey Geoffrey as coach were outstanding in the state championship contest in winning every game by wide margins.

We know there are many proud parents, relatives, teachers, political leaders, players, and baseball folks real happy with the accomplishments of this 13-year-old group of fine young men of our area.

The Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth program includes players primarily from Bay St. Louis with several from Waveland and Pass Christian.

The season is not over, because the Bay group will journey to Pensacola, Fla. for the regional tournament and if successful later to Maryland for the national championship.

A lot of long hours of practice by these young men have gone into preparation before winning the state championship. Many miles of transporting the players back and forth to the ball fields by the parents have also been involved in preparations.

The players of the Bay St. Louis 13-year-old Babe Ruth League from which the All-Star team was selected should all be very proud. It is true all could not have been selected on the All-Star team, but, they too played an important part in the team being good.

The competition between the players of the 1982 13-year-old Babe Ruth League was the best ever.

We wish our boys from the area the best in the regional tournament, and hope they will go all the way, including taking the national championship.

Tom Moody, state highway superintendent, visited us Monday explaining his department's views on the mowing of grass on our highways.

Mr. Moody said the highway department only mows for highway safety, not for beauty.

The reason for his visit was because we had made mention of how one of our subscribers was complaining how the grass seems higher now on the highway medians than it was three years ago.

The superintendent did say one of his problems is the fact that his budget for grass cutting has been cut 60 per cent and the highways in Hancock are cut three times a year.

In Hancock his crews care for seven highways and it takes a full 21 days of continuous cutting to cover everyone of them.

The municipalities at one time helped within city limits, but they too are strapped for monies, so it is almost all left up to the highway department.

A big problem Mr. Moody said his department faces when a mower breaks down, sometimes it takes two to three weeks to get parts.

The schedule calls for three cuttings a year. We did note the grass being cut this week along US-90 in Bay St. Louis, which Moody said was on his schedule.

A serious item of interest to us was the fact there was so much paper visible after the grass was cut.

It seems to us that people would keep their trash and properly dispose of it when they return home.

BE A GOOD CITIZEN

Some people might ask: What do you mean by litter? or What is litter? Litter is scattered trash: cans, paper, bottles, boxes, gum wrappers, plastics, tissues, empty cigarette packs, etc. Use a litter bag-in-your-car or pick-up truck. It will help keep your community clean.

Heart AnswersWHAT IS HYPERTENSION?

Hypertension is the medical term for high blood pressure. It occurs when the pressure the heart needs to pump blood is higher than normal. People who have untreated hypertension are more likely to suffer from heart disease and stroke. High blood pressure can be detected with regular blood pressure checks. The risk of heart disease and stroke can be reduced with treatment to control high blood pressure. Contact your local American Heart Association for more information.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORVisitor to county thought his relative was being buried in a dump

July 19, 1982
Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,
I am a citizen concerned about the trash and debris being dumped on Bayou LaCroix Road near the Bayou LaCroix Cemetery.

I contacted several officials of Hancock County concerning this problem. No one was concerned.

Well, I would just like to say the people who are dumping out there should be caught and arrested.

Much credit should go to the man keeping up the road, but less credit to his supervisor for not pushing this issue to its fullest.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Polly Boswell
Bay St. Louis

I once had to pass all this debris this year going to our beautiful little cemetery to bury my mother and must I say, this was a disgrace to our beautiful county.

Hopefully someone else will have to pass this way and see this.

Also not only is this ugly but also a fire hazard, causes mosquitoes and pollution.

I think something needs to be done. Only time will tell if something is done about his problem.

Another recent visitor to the cemetery thought the family was bringing the body to the dump!

Because of that ridiculous idea, the joke was on us.

Just over two blocks from our home, while my husband was enroute to work, we were approaching a stop sign failed to stop. As he hit the rear of our vehicle, it caused my husband to swerve into a resident's yard hitting a tree.

Neither driver had insurance. The expenses from this minor accident range from $3,400 to $3,600.

These expenses do not include the remaining monthly payments which we are still making on a car that is not driveable anymore.

Not many people can realize the headaches that could have been avoided.

Auto insurance value most evident after accident

July 12, 1982
Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Sir,
I'm hoping that after you have read this letter you will consider publishing it in the Sea Coast Echo.

I would like to be able to express to all your readers here in Bay St. Louis and all neighboring areas what the value of having automobile insurance really is.

Over three months ago, the idea of having automobile insurance on our vehicle while driving the quiet, fair streets of Bay St. Louis was a joke.

Because of that ridiculous idea, the joke was on us.

Just over two blocks from our home, while my husband was enroute to work, we were approaching a stop sign failed to stop. As he hit the rear of our vehicle, it caused my husband to swerve into a resident's yard hitting a tree.

Neither driver had insurance. The expenses from this minor accident range from $3,400 to $3,600.

These expenses do not include the remaining monthly payments which we are still making on a car that is not driveable anymore.

Not many people can realize the headaches that could have been avoided.

ed from the result of a car accident, if only both drivers had automobile insurance. Listed are the expenses that resulted from this:

1. Damage to vehicles

2. Towing bills

3. Charge for estimates (three that are required)

4. Storage of wrecked vehicle

5. Damage to resident's yard

6. Loss from work because of no transportation

7. Hospital emergency examination

8. Accident report requested by attorney

9. Attorney's fee

10. Court case you have been advised to drop because the party involved has no funds or job to pay for damage caused by them.

"Car accident, no automobile insurance—big deal. Yes, believe me, it is a big deal."

Nothing good comes out of an uninsured car accident. Not even so much as an apology from the driver who caused the accident.

If you have car insurance, value it. If you don't, consider it seriously. It does pay in the end.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Dave Schlosser

Physicians open drive against drunk drivers

The Mississippi State Medical Association has announced formation of a statewide committee of physicians to remove drunk drivers from the highways of the state.

Citing national and state statistics which indicate that almost 50 percent of all automobile fatalities are caused by drunken drivers, the chairman of the MMSA committee, Dr. Dewey H. Lane of Pascagoula, stated that "the committee will begin its work by organizing Physicians Against Drunk Drivers in various parts of the state to work with Mothers Against Drunk Drivers and other interested public groups in seeing that drunk drivers are taken off the roads of Mississippi."

Lane said that "physicians are particularly aware of the human carnage and economic loss caused by drunken drivers in our state. We see the results of their actions in hospital emergency rooms; we read about them in autopsy reports. It is appropriate that we encourage efforts to end this public tragedy."

"The Mississippi Legislature enacted a new and more stringent law dealing with drunk drivers in 1981," Lane continued, "which among other things lowered the blood alcohol level for conviction of driving under the influence of alcohol."

"We will meet with law enforcement officials and other concerned state and local authorities to determine how our new DWI law is being administered and what impact it is having on solving the drunk driving problem in our state," Dr. Lane said. "And we will monitor the laws of other states to see where ours might be strengthened."

Alcohol and accidents, along with smoking, comprise the triad of preventable causes of almost one-half of this nation's health bill," Dr. Lane pointed out, "and we believe the non-drinking driving public has no desire to continue to pay for accidents caused by the drunken driver."

In addition to Dr. Lane, the MMSA committee is composed of Carl G. Evers, MD, Jackson; Virginia S. Tolbert, MD, Ruleville; Charles P. Bass, MD, Columbia; Mary Alice Lee, MD, Jackson; Alito Rausse, MD, Greenwood; James S. Robbins, MD, Greenwood; Jerry M. Ross, MD, Whitfield; Donald F. Dohn, MD, Pascagoula; Mrs. J. He then called Ptn. Robert Butler, told him where to go and what to do.

He also told Administrative Officer Brenda Anderson to call Jim Clark to take Butler's place.

Later I was informed that Officer

Butler had contacted someone in Gulfport, and I must say with surprise he was given most of my money back.

Again I want to say well done Chief and Investigator Ben Palmer. Keep up the good works.

My newspaper just raised the ad rate again. It went up last fall and now there's another increase. What are they trying to do, run off business? A Grocery Store Owner.

Dear AGSO: I would think they are trying to stay in business, rather than run off business.

As you well know, costs are or have been escalating steadily and rapidly.

You and other merchants have been marking up goods and services with every new shipment.

Most newspapers, dating back to then-president Gerald Ford's WIN (Whip Inflation Now), tried to hold the line on prices.

It seemed to be patriotic and in the interest of good business.

But in the interest of reasonable cost, I would like to suggest that you and other merchants consider a

AMERICAN PURCHASING POWER HIGHEST, SURVEY SHOWS

During the past year in this column, I have complained about high interest rates, cited inflation as a major problem for small-business owners, urged lower deficits and a balanced budget, and raised other concerns of the small-business community. This time, some good news!

A survey just completed for the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) shows that while times may be tough in our country, we're still doing far better than people in Western Europe and the Soviet Union. The data was developed for a new NFIB poster called "What's the Difference."

The survey compares Soviet and Western living standards by recording the retail prices of selected consumer goods and services in Moscow, London, Paris, Munich and Washington in mid-March 1982. It computes the work-time equivalents of those prices. That is, the study shows how long a person must work to buy a pack of cigarettes, a basket of groceries or a new car.

The good news is that in most instances, we Americans work fewer hours to obtain what we need or want than our counterparts in Great Britain, France, West Germany or the Soviet Union. The average monthly take-home pay for the American industrial worker is $984. That compares to $738 in Great Britain, $787 in France, $893 in Germany and $238 in the Soviet Union.

The figure accounts for deductions for medical insurance, taxes, social security and unemployment insurance where applicable. A note of interest to small-business owners: The author of the survey writes, "A deduction is made from the gross earnings of the German, French and British workers for unemployment insurance. No charge is made in the USSR where unemployment officially ceased in 1930. In the United States, the employer bears the total specific charge for unemployment insurance" (emphasis added).

How much better off are we? The American works 16.3 hours a week for a food basket sufficient for the "statistically average" family of 3.5 persons (Russian 46.8 hours; German 20.4; Frenchman 19.4; Britisher 22.5). The only surprise in the survey was monthly rent. Americans pay substantially higher rents than workers in any of the countries surveyed, and Moscow rents were the lowest of all.

A compact car, on the other hand, requires five months of work time in the U.S., 53 in Moscow, six in Munich, eight in Paris and 11 in London.

The NFIB poster—to be distributed late this summer—contains many more comparisons. If you would like to receive a copy, write NFIB POSTER, 600 Maryland Ave., S.W., Suite 695, Washington, D.C. 20024.

White can be special color to gardeners

Officially, white is not a color, but that is a hard point to argue to flower lovers.

Jim Perry, a landscape horticulturist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, says white can work miracles in the flower garden.

"White softens the heat of reds, yellows and oranges," he says. "White lights up the cool blues and purples and it stands alone as a star performer in its own right."

He says white can be used to separate clashing colors such as red from pink or red from purple or other fighting hues.

"Gardeners should use white lavishly for splashes of light," Perry says. "Add spots of white sparingly to beckon the eye or call attention, but too much white is monotonous when used in large areas."

Perry urges gardeners to choose white flower blossoms for characters, such as Shasta daisies, relieved by large yellow eyes or white geraniums with large trusses held well above the foliage.

"Because each white flower is so often framed in green, the graceful form of individual flowers is more easily seen," he says.

Perry says white also extends the garden day, worth considering for the person who spends a lot of time on the deck or patio as the day draws in. "In a mixed planting, the dark colors disappear first as dusk deepens, followed by yellows, pinks and other light colors, leaving white alone to light up the deepening darkness."

increases include:

—Bay Senior High School Principal Robert Magee from $27,139 to $28,589;
Assistant High School Principal Frank Ladner from $24,445 to $25,318;
—Bay Junior High School Principal W.J. Cameron from $24,661 to $25,318;
—North Bay Elementary School Principal Rogers James pay from $23,597 to $25,096;
—Waveland Elementary School Principal James Baldree from $20,790 to $22,196;

—Assistant Junior High Principal Mike Cave from $18,382 to $19,811.

Administrative pay raises will cost the district some $6,489.

The board also accepted McCullough's recommendation to increase annual pay of every district employee, except administrators, by $100.

The new district teacher pay scales approved by the board in its budget list a minimum annual salary of $11,475 for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and no teaching experience (an A certificate) and a maximum salary of $19,375 for a teacher with 16 or more years experience holding a doctoral degree.

Regarding the pay increase, the superintendent stated, "Although the pay raise won't be a large amount, it's more than the state legislature recommended (which was zero) this year."

"This budget represents a $100 increase for all faculty and staff. This includes teachers, secretaries, bookkeepers and lunchroom workers," he said.

Funds allowing the pay increases were allowed by an approximate $150,000 the district received from 16th Section mineral leases this year, the superintendent reported.

Athletic Director Wilmer Seymour is also apparently considered a staff member and will receive the $100 increase which will raise his salary from $22,371 to $22,471 and is not affected by the McCullough pay formula.

Garland Cuevas, district business manager, reported the employee pay increases will cost the district some $27,000.

However, the board turned down the superintendent's request to increase teacher supplements for heading extracurricular activities such as football and band.

The district's new budget is $3,033,577 compared to the 1981-82 figure of $2,990,305.

The total assessed valuation of the district is $36,222,181.

The new budget includes income from local sources amounting to $751,714, $1,877,145 from the state, $240,218 from the federal government and $75,000 transferred from the previous year.

The district will spend some $1,910,659 in strictly for instructional purposes.

be provided by hospital services with the moving of maintenance into it.

In other actions the trustees approved a request for an education assistance loan to Linda Breland, an employee in Respiratory Therapy.

Langston reported to the trustees she had been approved by her supervisor and the hospital's administration and was also going to receive a scholarship from the HGH auxiliary.

It was noted that the hospital planning committee would become active in seeking a potential site for a new hospital in the future.

showed the extremely fast pulsation from an X-ray source to be that of a pulsar's size is approximately 10 miles in diameter, which is extremely small, but it possesses the same mass as our sun, which is 43,000 miles in diameter."

"The new pulsar's magnetic field, as in most pulsars, is similar in shape to a bar magnet. The rotations, much as the Earth rotates around its axis, result in pulses when the poles of the pulsar point in Earth's direction every 69 thousandths of a second.

Additionally, the pulsar "orbits" around a normal, or primary star, much as a planet would rotate around its sun. The "orbit" takes 16.6 days.

"We surmise there were two stars present in the system and one collapsed. Normally this would cause the disintegration of the entire system, but the system was organized well enough that it adjusted to the new circumstances and the pulsar began orbiting the remaining star," said Dr. Weisskopf.

"Our first opportunity to study the area again, and confirm our data, will be with the European EXOSAT satellite proposed for launch later this year," said Dr. Skinner. "This satellite will have two telescopes similar to those on HEAO-2, but smaller, and a Monitor Proportional Counter larger than HEAO-2. I hope we can get a really good constant study for the entire 16.6 day rotation cycle."

"Much of our data indicates this system is out of the orbit.

"The Monitor Proportional Counter gave us the capability of measuring the X-ray pulsations more accurately," said Dr. Skinner. "Our data from HEAO-1 only told us there was something interesting to study in that region of the system."

"The data from HEAO-2

showed the extremely fast pulsation from an X-ray source to be that of a pulsar's size is approximately 10 miles in diameter, which is extremely small, but it possesses the same mass as our sun, which is 43,000 miles in diameter."

PUBLIC NOTICE REVENUE SHARING PUBLIC HEARING CITY OF WAVELAND MISSISSIPPI

A proposed use hearing for General Revenue Sharing purposes will be held on August 3, 1982 for all interested citizens of the City of Waveland. The estimated amount of General Revenue Sharing Funds to be discussed for the fiscal year 1982-1983 is $79,240.00.

the opposite party can intercept information.

Mobile Medic recently added a new radio-telephone system to its arsenal of life saving equipment.

Personnel with the company feel the new communications device will save time, and as a result, lives in emergency situations.

The RTSS (Radio Telephone Switch Station) is a radio which is capable of transmitting messages over the telephone.

John Rester, president of Mobile Medic, recently demonstrated the new systems at Hancock General Hospital so hospital personnel would be acquainted with how the communicator is used by medical personnel in the field.

He noted the personnel at Hancock General would only be receiving a telephone call, but the call can originate miles from the closest telephone.

The most obvious benefit of the system is the added capability of giving a rescue worker direct contact with a doctor or specialist on duty at a local hospital.

Rester also noted a conversation may be interrupted by the receiving party at any time during the call.

This alone can save wasted time since use of a radio involves having one person complete his conversation before the radios transmit an ultra high frequency signal which can be picked up by special receptors located on the Diamondhead water tower or in Gulfport.

Those receptors, or radio telephone interconnection systems, convert the radio waves to electrical impulses and transmit conversations over the wire.

The person simply dials the correct number in order to plug into the system after adjusting the machine to the desired frequency and deciding which receptor is to receive the signal.

The system is also capable of transmitting EKG's (electro-cardiograms) over the telephone depending on the hospital's capabilities.

Currently Hancock General does not have the necessary equipment to transmit EKG's; however, it hopes to have that capability soon.

Keesler group tours available

Known as the Electronics Training Center of the Air Force, Keesler Air Force Base boasts a variety of interesting operations that numbers of the general public may not be aware of.

To help keep members of the civilian community informed about the base's mission and how it fits into the nation's defense structure, organized civilian groups of up to 30 people are invited to call the Keesler Public Affairs Office to arrange tours of the base.

Because most base activities do not operate on weekends, tours must be scheduled for weekdays, during normal working hours.

Each tour will be custom designed by the Public Affairs Office to fit the desires of the tour group, the age of the prospective visitors and the ability of base organizations to show visitors their operation at a specific time.

Groups that would like to visit Keesler should call the Public Affairs Office at 377-2254 at least two weeks prior to their anticipated tour date to insure arrangements can be made.

Fire District to build station

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday agreed to advertise for bids to construct a fire station for the proposed East Hancock Fire Protection District.

At a meeting several weeks ago, the supervisors agreed there is a need for the district and granted a certificate of convenience and necessity—the first step toward establishing a fire district.

Final approval to create the district, expected Aug. 2, will allow the supervisors to assess a two mill tax to those citizens living in the district.

Money obtained from that tax will be used to help finance construction of the building.

The building, to be constructed of metal, will be capable of housing two fire engines and will serve as the headquarters of the new district.

That district will provide fire protection in an area south of Bayou LaCroix, north of Bay St. Louis and Waveland and will include Blue Meadow Road, the area near Joe's Bayou, Shoreline Park and Garden Isles Subdivision.

The building is planned for construction near the intersection of Washington Road and Chapman Road on the county Fairground property.

Although only shell of the building will be constructed at first, area inside is large enough to allow construction of an office and lounge area at a future date.

Bill Field Jr., administrative chief of the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department, hopes the building will be completed by late December of this year.

In other business, at the Monday meeting, the board:

Set Aug. 2, as the date for a public hearing in the courthouse to discuss the 1982-83 fiscal budget.

Accepted the real and personal property rolls. All complaints or protests concerning those rolls must be filed with the Chancery Clerk's office before Aug. 2.

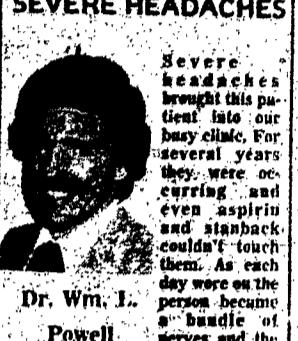

Approved the 1982-83 motor vehicle assessment to become effective Aug. 1.

SEVERE HEADACHES

Severe headaches bring people into my office daily. For several years they were occurring and even aspirin and ibuprofen couldn't touch them. As each day wore on the person became more and more handicapped and the pain later kept increased. She lost her appetite, weight, and sleep and even her zest for life! After a thorough examination and spinal X-ray, the cause was found to be a herniated disc in her neck creating these terrible headaches. Spinal adjustments were advised to correct the spinal condition and remove the pressure from the nerves. After a short time under our care, her headaches abated. She hasn't had a headache since and is grateful that Chiropractic care was able to correct her condition. Services in our field point out that many neck conditions are caused by spinal conditions. If you are bothered with headaches, Chiropractic care may be the answer for you!

SBA institutes vet priorities

"At the insistence of the VFW, the Small Business Administration has issued regulations extending 'special consideration' to veterans within each assistance program of the SBA," Arthur Fellwick, national commander-in-chief of the VFW, said.

The SBA has established an Office of Veterans Business Enterprise in Washington and directed that veterans affairs officer be appointed in each regional and district office.

"Qualified veterans will receive higher priority in the processing and funding of loan applications, with particular attention to be given to the handicapped and Vietnam veterans," said Fellwick.

"Management assistance and business training for veterans are to be intensified and five locations will be chosen as sites for special business training projects.

FIRE STATION VISIT—The Lutheran Church of the Pines Day Care Center children visited the Waveland Fire Station recently. The children were given a tour of the fire station, and were shown a film strip on "Hansel and Gretel and the Fire." Fireman Rich and Fireman Timmy then let the children have turns using the fire hose and climbing in the fire engine to work the sirens. The firemen showed the children the fire engine and explained how the engine operated. Those attending the trip were Judy Schuengel, director; Dana Bielstein, Tiffany Fredricks, Amy Taravouille, Samantha James, Michael DeSelm, Jason Maufray, Zachery Ladner, Davy Manasco, Douglas Price, Hope Taravouille, Heather Casanova, Lee Morris, Jessica Laughlin, Greta Cuevas, Eric Shelton, Sheila Shafer, Jason Sandrock, Michael Ferry, Donnie Gaines, and Jennifer Storey.

CHAMPION FIDDLERS—Displaying trophies won in Diamondhead's First Annual Street Fair fiddling contest recently conducted at the community's clubhouse are, from left, Earl (Buck) Ladner of Bay St. Louis and third place winner, Ed Fave of Rotten Bayou and second place winner, and Murphy (Peewee) Maddux of Bayou Phillips and first place winner. Ladner says he plans to win the contest next year in spite of the fact that he was taught fiddling by Maddux. (Photo by Brenda Graybeal)

Army accepting bids on Ammunition Plant site improvement

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Huntsville Division is accepting bids on a $500,000 to $1 million project at the NSTL Army Ammunition Plant in Hancock County.

The proposed work is included in the Army's total small business set-aside program.

Bids will be accepted from small and minority owned businesses. The work to be performed consists of site improvements, fences and a concrete container pad.

The project is expected to take some nine months to complete. Bids will be opened around Aug. 10, the Corps reported.

Requests for drawings and specifications should be made to Ms. Mary Dowling at 205-895-5100.

Retired colonel works as surgeon

By JOE PILET

Sometimes we laugh to keep from crying. I did.

I laughed to express my encouragement when 77-year-old John Glossop Sr., a retired colonel of the U.S. Army, scaled a 42-foot ladder to remove a twisted, dangerously swaying limb from my massive pine tree.

"Good manners," he tells them, "can open the door, and energy and knowledge can make for you an independent place in society."

The colonel, a full-blood Sioux Indian, born in Colorado in 1906 had enlisted in the Army at age 26.

He served in the Pacific and China before coming up through the ranks to colonel in 1944 while serving in France.

He accumulated a total of 42 years in service prior to retirement.

He was awarded the Purple Heart, wears a silver plate in his head and gets around very nimbly on an artificial leg.

Glossop has vivid memories of how he survived the infamous Death March and his time spent as prisoner of war in Japan.

Today the colonel is the oldest active member of the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department, is a tree surgeon and owns and operates a wood lot.

These things he does primarily to be of service to his community. This summer his two grandsons accompany him on his rounds where he teaches them the joy of using one's hands, of being of service, and the knowledge of self-preservation.

"Any fool can get hurt," he tells them, "Watch that limb—get out of the way when the branch falls... or better yet guide it to safety with well studied ropes and a well-placed bit of come-along equipment."

The colonel is subject to attacks of emphysema and that slows him down to the degree that he only takes jobs on a contract basis.

He carries two tanks of oxygen in his truck.

An attack he can, with all good conscience, quit and rest until normal breathing returns.

He carries two tanks of oxygen in his truck.

In the meantime, during rest periods the grandchildren are taught politeness, patriotism, energy and diplomacy.

"Good manners," he tells them, "can open the door, and energy and knowledge can make for you an independent place in society."

"In this country," the colonel said, "you don't have to be beholden to any man. Out there are so many jobs that a man can do in a business of his own. Tree trimmers are needed. People need good fire wood. Plumbers and electricians are in demand. So are fire-fighters with guts and policemen who can't be bribed. It's a fertile field—we are put here on this earth to help our fellowman while at the same time we are helping ourselves," he concluded.

The boys, 9 and 11, hang on "Grandpa's" every word. They run errands, lift wood—and manage to keep themselves neat and clean.

"A mountain and a river are good neighbors," George Herbert

Bay 13-year-old All Stars Capture State Championship

By BRENT MACEY

The Bay St. Louis 13-year-old Babe Ruth All Stars left no doubt in anybody's mind Tuesday that they are State Champions.

They devastated D'Iberville 10-0 in the final game of the championship series in Long Beach to take home the title handily.

The game was no surprise to Bay St. Louis and Waveland fans who have witnessed the All Stars score 41 runs and allow only three in the four game series.

On their way to the finals, the Bay All Stars stopped Mc-Comb 6-1, blanked Long Beach 10-0, and slammed Yazoo City 15-2.

The Long Beach, Yazoo City and D'Iberville games only went five of the scheduled seven innings since a 10-run lead at that point automatically ends the ball game.

The D'Iberville game testified to both hot batting and great defensive play by the Bay which earned them the number one slot in the state.

The defense in particular was a major contributing factor which allowed Brian Laneaux to chalk up a no hit pitcher in his second pitching game in the series.

In the third inning, Laneaux walked three to load the bases with only one out. The next two consecutive D'Iberville batters each grounded to Bay shortstop David Pitalo who riled the ball home to catcher Mark Logan for two force plays at the plate.

In the fourth inning D'Iberville threatened to score again when the first batter walked and then stole to third.

A high fly ball to left field that looked like it was going fair was grabbed by the Bay's Perrell Galloway who covered a lot of ground to make a great catch to get Laneaux out of trouble.

While D'Iberville had problems connecting for a hit, the Bay had no problems.

The stars managed eight hits in five innings.

One was a two run homer by Laneaux, his third for the series. This one was parked over the center field wall some 320 feet from home plate.

In the game against Yazoo City, Laneaux hit two home runs; one a memorable grand slam for the powerful 5-foot 10-inch 175 pounder.

The Bay entire batting order is comprised of good hitters as witnessed in the four series games.

In the Long Beach game, right fielder Glen Rose went two for four. Tuesday he did the same, but this time managed a base hit double along with a single.

Other big hitters for the Bay include Joey Rogers, the six-foot 165 pound first baseman and pitcher who went three for three against Long Beach.

Pitalo, who hit a double against Yazoo City, has power to hit the long ball; Jay Artigues, second baseman who has a record of almost always managing to gain first pitcher in his second pitching game in the series.

PRC Wildcats to open fall practice Aug. 13

Pearl River College's Wildcats grididers are expected to report for fall practice Friday, August 13.

According to J.C. Arban, the Wildcat's head coach for the past seven years, 31 sophomores and 52 freshmen are expected to report for physicals and the first workouts in shorts.

"We have a strong nucleus to build around," said Arban. "Right now we can start a sophomore team, but I'm expecting to have a few freshmen break into the starting lineup by the time of the first games."

Of course, Arban, and his assistants Wayne Jones and Herbert Morris will hold their breath until that first meeting.

"We always have a few players decide not to play ball at the last minute," Arban said. "So we will just keep our fingers crossed until then."

Last year the Wildcats won the South Division Championship and was runner-up to Holmes for the overall Mississippi crown. The Cats posted an 8-3 ledger, the best team back in 1976.

We have some excellent backs coming back and maybe the best offensive and defensive linemen we've had in years," Arban said.

The Wildcats will have three days of conditioning before the pads will be put on. "Our only problem this August is that we really won't have but about one or two days of a two-a-day workouts," Arban said.

"This will really cut down on our time for running and learning plays."

Freshman and new players will have their orientation and testing session Monday, August 16 at 2:15 p.m. Registration for the players is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon.

Regular registration at Pearl River will be held Wednesday and Thursday with classes beginning Friday, August 20.

Arban's record at Pearl River College is 46-24-2 and includes two South Division Championships and the 1976 overall crown.

Overall, the Wildcats have won 14 state titles, more than any other Mississippi Junior College.

Loiacano addresses therapy association

J. E. Loiacano of Loiacano's Health Club in Bay St. Louis and former strength coach for the Mississippi State University Athletic Department, was a featured speaker at a recent three-day medical conference in Biloxi.

"Fitness for Fun And Health" was theme of the conference hosted by the association's southeastern chapter.

The event was headquartered at the Howard Johnson's Motel in Biloxi.

Loiacano discussed the strength coaches' role in university athletics at the 38th annual scientific and clinical conference of the American Corrective Therapy Association.

FISHIN' TIPS

from . . . Tom Mann

ALTHOUGH THE VAST majority of today's kids are the kind we're proud of, still too many are getting hooked on hurtful things like pot, alcohol, and just plain "do nothing" attitudes brought on by boredom. Bre'r Tom suggests we get our kids into the outdoors, alongside a stream or pond, or afloat in a boat, trying to "outsmart a fish." Some people call them "dumb fish," but it doesn't take a kid long to discover that there's a lot more to it than dangling a worm on a bent pin.

And, a good way to start is to get a couple cane poles, a can of garden worms, a dozen No. 6 Aberdeen hooks, some split shot, bobbers, and a picnic lunch. Take a youngster, yours or a neighborhood kid, out to the nearest bluegill or catfish hole.

Find out where one is by asking at the tackle shop. If you don't know where to go, ask the local conservation officer.

Add enough sink shot to the baited hook just over bottom so that the bobber will come to attention. Teach the kid when to set the hook, and watch magic happen!

REMEMBER: Fishermen are special . . . Christ so loved them that He chose four among His twelve apostles. And fishermen never really grow old because the kid in the fisherman never really grows up.

Sometimes the best fishing is right at home.

TENNIS FACTS & FANCIES

Here are a few facts and figures about tennis that may net you some pleasure.

The first mention of tennis was in an English magazine back on September 29, 1783. The game was then called "Field-Tennis."

The fastest service ever measured was served up by William Tatem Tilden in 1931. It was clocked at an amazing 163.6 mph.

An indication of how many people love the game of tennis was reflected in the crowd of 30,742 who came to the Houston Astrodome on Sept. 30, 1973 to watch Billie Jean King beat Bobby Riggs in straight sets. It was billed as the "Tennis Match of the Century."

The fastest service ever measured was served up by William Tatem Tilden in 1931. It was clocked at an amazing 163.6 mph.

John McEnroe earned him a record $1,026,383 in 1980. Moreover, possibly the highest paid female athlete in the world is a tennis player. Martina Navratilova holds that record with a yearly earning of $745,548 in 1979.

Tennis, it seems, is a game that both players and fans find easy to love.

JSU conference champs replacing 12

Last season Jackson State University combined a balanced offensive attack with a swarming defense to form a machine-like juggernaut which rolled to a 9-2-1 season record and the championship of the Southwestern Athletic Conference.

The Tigers' ability to mesmerize opponents kept them in the top ten ranking among Division I-AA teams and by virtue of their SWAC championship earned them a spot in the Division I-AA playoffs. The Tigers averaged 28.5 points per game while giving up a paltry 9.3 points per game.

Senior quarterback Keith Taylor was the key to the Tigers' success. He passed and ran for 1,887 yards and 24 touchdowns. He rushed for 373 yards and 11 touchdowns while completing 74 of 184 passes for 1,514 yards and 13 touchdowns.

The success of the Tigers in 1982 will depend greatly on filling the quarterback void left by Taylor and replacing 11 other graduated starters.

Gone off the offense are Larry Cowan (RB), Carl Powell (WR), Mike Fields (OG), Cedric Blair (OT) and Alvin Flowers (FB). Cowan and Fields were both named All-American as well as being named first team All-SWAC. Cowan, Powell and Fields are also considered top-notch pro prospects.

The heavy losses on the offense have W.C. Gorden, Tiger head coach concerned. "We are going to have a difficult task in front of us replacing them. The quarterback spot will be one spot that we will be looking at real close."

Gorden and the Tigers are blessed to have two talented quarterbacks back vying for Taylor's position. Derek McCall, a junior who was redshirted last season, is generally considered the most skillful quarterback in the Tiger camp. He has good speed and throws the ball real well. He is also considered to be a better passer than Taylor.

McCall was Taylor's understudy in 1979 and 1980. John McKenzie, a freshman, is the other gifted signal caller in the Tiger fold. McKenzie was the backup quarterback last season and was able to gain valuable experience.

Once again, as has been the case for the past several years, the Tigers' offensive strength may lie in their running game. Even with the loss of Cowan and Flowers, the running game is expected to be formidable.

Otis Brown, who will be a senior in the fall, is the team's top returning back. At 5-11, 200 pounds and 4.5 speed in the 40, he is certain to catch the eye of the pro scouts. In three years at JSU he has gained 1,076 yards and averaged over five yards per carry. Stanley Connor, Zac Matthews, Carl Blue, Ellis Davis and Theodore Parker are all veterans with experience. The return of super speedster Sylvester Stamps, who sat out last season, may provide the most excitement for the Tiger fans.

The Tigers are also blessed with possibly the best corp of receivers in the SWAC. Anthony Jenkins, Tommy Norman, Chris Burkett, Maurice Aikens, Johnny Ray Brown and Cleo Simmons are all solid performers.

Pro prospect Carl Roberts (6-1, 240, OG), Tommy Doss and Frank Sutton will firm up the offensive line.

The strength of the defense will lie in a veteran group of defensive backs and a hard hitting corp of linebackers. Al Marshall, Alvin Horhn, Derek McClanahan, Karl Johnson, Bobby Norman, Danny Little and Robert Johnson have all started at one time or another in the secondary. Outside linebacker Calyn Janary made 86 tackles last season and earned the respect of Tiger opponents as one of the fiercest hitters in football. Mario Kirksey, Larry White, Cleveland Parker and David Windham are also experienced linebackers.

All-SWAC performer Thomas Straughters (DT) will anchor the defensive line.

Nose guard Ed Reed, John Davis (DE), John Jones (DT),

Donne Graham (DE) and

Charles Fields (DT) are expected to shore up the defensive line.

Bryant Moore, a junior, is expected to handle the place kicking chores replacing graduated All-SWAC performer Randall Lewis.

Sportswriters judge Ole Miss publications

Two University of Mississippi sports publications have been honored by the Mississippi Sportswriters Association "in recognition of outstanding journalistic performance and contribution."

The 1981 Rebel football media guide was judged best in the state in the "Sports Brochures" category, while the Ole Miss basketball media guide placed third.

Last month the College Sports Information Directors of America judged the 1981-82 Lady Rebel press guide as its best "Women's Combined Brochure" of the year.

Army Engineers move to protect habitats

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers reports it is considering granting general permits to two governmental environmental agencies and one environmental organization to make improvements necessary on their wildlife refuges and management areas in order to protect and preserve wildlife habitat.

New Orleans District Engineer Colonel Robert C. Lee identified the groups as the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and the National Audubon Society. The society operates the Paul J. Rainey Wildlife Refuge and Game Preserve in Vermilion Parish.

If approved, the permits would generally allow whatever construction and maintenance of a variety of support structures are necessary. These include levees, closure fills, access roads, pirogue ditches, weirs, culverts, small docks, utility crossing, riprap, concrete mats, small breakwaters, bulkheads, mooring facilities and boat ramps, fills, and minor dredging with associated deposits for maintaining navigable depths and water flows.

The Audubon Society would also be permitted camps and buildings necessary for refuge management.

The general permits would be good for five years, subject to suspension in whole or in part, or modification by the District Engineer, in the public interest. The general permits are intended to allow the groups to accomplish necessary work without the delays and inconveniences associated with processing regular permit applications.

The general permits do not authorize oil field canals and roads, oil and gas pipelines, and similar facilities, but they do authorize work by oil and gas companies done in mitigation of their construction elsewhere.

Lee said that the terms under which the permits would be granted require that the permittees notify the Corps' New Orleans District Engineer of the nature, location, and extent of the work to be done before it is begun.

In addition, there are other requirements. Necessary water quality certifications for coastal area work must be obtained from the state Department of Natural Resources. Work within the critical habitat of an endangered species must be reviewed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and/or the National Marine Fisheries Prior to notifying the Corps.

Discovery of archeological artifacts during construction require that the permittees work out plans for preserving, documenting, or collecting the resources with the State Historical Preservation Office.

Work within, or across navigable waterways, listed national scenic and wild waters, or within 1,000 feet of any flood control or hurricane protection levee constructed, or maintained with Federal funds is not covered by the general permits.

The decision whether to grant the general permits will be based on evaluation of the probable impacts of the proposed activities on the public interest. Factors under consideration include conservation, economics, environmental concerns, historic values, fish and wildlife values, recreation, and water quality.

Comments from the public will enter into the decision. These should be addressed to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, New Orleans District, P.O. Box 60267, Attn. Permits Section, New Orleans LA 70160. Indication should be made as to whether all or only one or two of the proposed general permits is being addressed in the comments.

Deadline for the comments is Aug. 9, 1982.

AWESOME RAINBOW BLUFF

Anybody who takes the backroads of rural Mississippi often enough already has learned to expect the discovery of great visual marvels around almost any bend in the road, but Mississippi's Highway 587 in south Mississippi suddenly brings one face to face with what is probably the state's most colorful and awesome of its many mini-wonders.

It occurs where sandy bluffs rise up from the Pearl River flood plain a few miles west and slightly north of Columbia.

Rain has carved deep ravines that suddenly plunge hundreds of feet through multi-colored sands, clays, and occasionally stony outcroppings that bedazzle the beholder in a par with Arizona's Grand Canyon when judged by the color show staged on a giant color screen of native materials.

Mississippi's Rainbow Bluff, as this writer prefers to call it, has seemingly upstaged the western marvel on the basis of superior color blends brought together on a much smaller scale in a jewel-like setting of verdant pine, oak, and hickory trees while the view over the chasm includes serene, lush farmlands and forests in a misty procession to a horizon visible some 20 miles or so away.

Locally, the attraction is known as Red Bluff, but this writer and photographer disagree. The local name is too modest, and only describes the deep red hue characteristic of the top of the bluff.

Every color of the rainbow follows the sandy, constantly shifting walls of the ravines; they range spectacularly from earthy tones to bright, now-lavender shades. The colors and the subtle variations never stop.

Brief

While the writer visited the bluffs last week Marion County was suffering from dry weather. Cornfields and gardens had a withered look. And a family in adjacent Morgantown, which was sitting in the yard snapping beans as I sought directions from them, explained that unfortunately it had not rained lately to dampen and enhance the colors of the sand in the bluffs.

Yet, even dry, the colors were considerably richer and more abruptly blended than those of the Grand Canyon, one of the seven wonders of the world.

Rainbow Bluff is on private lands in a general area owned by several families and one major timber corporation.

It is located several miles west of Morgantown which lies across the Pearl River on the west side of Columbia. Highway 58 is a roughly 20 mile stretch that cuts and winds through hilly country-side between Columbia and Monticello.

About halfway between the two county seats the highway is surfaced with gravel. Highway crews currently are busy with heavy equipment making improvements in a tortuous area where the highway is extremely narrow.

Locally, the attraction is known as Red Bluff, but this writer and photographer disagree. The local name is too modest, and only describes the deep red hue characteristic of the top of the bluff.

Every color of the rainbow follows the sandy, constantly shifting walls of the ravines; they range spectacularly from earthy tones to bright, now-lavender shades. The colors and the subtle variations never stop.

ENGINEERS CHANGE COMMAND—Col. Dennis J. York, right, recently assumed command of the Vicksburg District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, in ceremonies held in Vicksburg. York will guide the Corps' water resources development program in a 63,000-square mile area consisting of major parts of Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi. York is shown receiving the Corps colors from Col. Joseph A. Yore, deputy division engineer for the Lower Mississippi Valley Division.

Pell Grants to aid 2,300

How to pay for a college education in the face of rising costs is more of a problem today than ever before, says an administrator at Gulf Coast Junior College.

But Billy Dabbs, financial officer at GCJC's Jackson County Campus at Gautier, said four programs offered by the U.S. Office of Education supply some of the answers.

And although the trend is toward an overall reduction in federally-supported programs, Dabbs believes many students at GCJC will be seeing increases in their individual grants.

The newest and most popular of these is the Pell Grant, formerly known as the Basic Education Opportunity Grant (BEOG). This year (1982-83), the Pell is expected to pay an estimated $2 million to some 2,300 students at GCJC's three campuses, Dabbs said.

He said the Pell "forms the base of all assistance" programs and most schools require students to apply for it first. Those who have qualified at Gulf Coast are receiving a maximum of $1,033 this year compared to $908 last year.

Pell Grants are based primarily on income and are awarded to people who are unable to meet the financial burden of attending college.

Other programs are the Supplemental Education Opportunity Grants (SEOG); College Work Study (CWS); and the Guaranteed Student Loans (GSL).

These programs comprise the heart of all educational financial aid programs in the United States," Dabbs said.

But he emphasized they are not the only way students may obtain money to attend GCJC. "Scholarships, financed by patrons of the college, also are awarded."

However, unlike scholarships, federally-funded programs are not limited to any particular group or field of study, nor are they based on the student's scholastic record, as such.

In two of the programs — Supplemental Education Opportunity Grants and College Work-Study — the awards are controlled by the college the student wishes to attend.

Not so with the Pell Grant, or the Student Loan Program.

"The school has no control over who gets a Pell or a loan." For example the Pell is a private transaction between the individual and federal authorities."

Grant applications are available at public high schools, colleges and libraries. "Students who are not dependents may fill out the forms themselves. Parents or guardians of dependent students must assist in filling," Dabbs explained.

He said the ACT, which has a contract with the federal government to process applications, "can handle millions of them, thanks to computers, in 15 to 20 days."

At Jefferson Davis and Jackson County campuses, both commuter schools, the amount of a Pell is limited to approximately a $1,000 a year.

"Fees at each campus are about $430 a year," Dabbs said. "Added to the figure are cost of transportation, clothing, supplies and other incidentals."

The amount of money available through Pell Grants to students at Perkinston is higher because it is a boarding campus where meals and lodging are provided.

Dabbs said "it is advisable for students applying for a Pell to do so when they are seniors in high school. Eligibility reports should be brought to the college for study by the financial aid officer. In case of turn-downs, there may be avenues of appeal, especially if a drastic reduction in family income has occurred," Dabbs added.

"Early application for other types of financial aid also is desirable," said Dabbs. In case of school-controlled programs, certain requirements must be met.

The requirements:

- File an ACT family financial statement with the campus of your choice.
- Submit a formal application for financial aid in mid-January or early February. The deadline is July 1; but persons filling late will be considered on an "available" rather than a "priority" basis.
- Apply early for admission to the college. Until a formal application is received, no stu-

Scientists using fungi to hasten drug tests

The marketing of new drugs could be speeded up by years with a new process discovered by University of Mississippi scientists studying chemical changes that drugs undergo in the human body.

Traditionally, researchers have used animal models to study the ways a drug is altered when it enters the human body. However, chemists in the Ole Miss School of Pharmacy are using fungi similar to common bread mold or shower mildew to produce the same chemical changes much cheaper and in greater quantities.

"Before a drug is marketed it is important to study what chemical changes or metabolites occur when it's in the human system, because some could be toxic," explained Dr. Hufford, professor of pharmacognosy. Dr. Hufford has been developing a microbial technique for studying metabolism for several years.

The problem with animal studies is that they only produce sufficient quantities of these metabolites over a period of time and they are also expensive to acquire and keep," he said. "Microbial cultures, on the other hand, are a one time investment and are acquired at a negligible cost. This could make the job of screening new drugs faster and more cost effective for pharmaceutical companies."

Conventional methods for studying drug metabolism are time consuming and can call for as many as 100 mice, Dr. Hufford notes. In contrast, scientists exposing the drug under investigation to the cultured environment of the fungus can get results in days, and have enough of the metabolized product for a pharmacologist and pharmaceutical company to study almost simultaneously, he said.

Fungi are able to do this because their enzyme systems mimic those of mammals, according to Dr. Hufford.

"For years the literature on metabolism indicated fungal and mammalian systems might metabolize drugs in the same way, but there was no conclusive evidence to that effect. I began tests on imipramine, a drug used in the treatment of depression for which the metabolism had been studied extensively. Sure enough, when the 'bug' I was using was exposed to the drug, it produced the metabolites humans did. This was very encouraging because it was the first significant study indicating 'bugs' could be useful."

"The potential for studying drug metabolism with microorganisms is unlimited," Dr. Clark said. "Not only can they aid in evaluating total product safety and getting drugs on the market faster, but they also provide a standard for which analytical procedures can be improved."

Drs. Hufford and Clark point out that microorganisms will not replace the need for research animals because only animals can give such information as the amount of a drug that is absorbed into the bloodstream.

a considerable amount each week."

"Jitney is very convenient and the people are friendly. Price Slicers™ are very helpful to me. They do save me quite a bit. I think they have a wide selection to choose from. I appreciate their quality in meat and produce and they stand behind it. When you are on a limited budget and you want to make the most of it, shop Jitney Jungle."
